THURSDAY, DEC. 5:

UD NUTRITION CLASS TO COOK, SERVE LUNCH AT NEW HOUSE OF BREAD FACILITY

University of Dayton students completing an introductory foods and cooking course will put their newly honed skills to use beginning at 9 a.m. Thursday, Dec. 5, when they prepare and serve lunch at the House of Bread.

Half the group will head straight to the House of Bread, 9 Orth Ave., where they'll be guided by UD nutrition senior and House of Bread employee Nancy Poeschl as they prepare chicken, roast pork, mashed potatoes, gravy, mixed vegetables, tossed salad and homemade applesauce to serve to guests at the facility. The rest of the students will accompany Pat Dolan, assistant professor of nutrition at UD, to the dietetics kitchen at Sinclair Community College (Building 13, fourth floor, room 22) where they'll bake pumpkin cakes, complete with a glaze coating, for dessert.

Lunch at the House of Bread begins at 11:30 a.m.

"For our guests, this is probably the best meal, or maybe the only meal, of the day," said Bill Evans, a UD graduate and executive director of the House of Bread, which moved to its new facility in August. Staff and volunteers serve lunch from Monday to Friday, and the organization now has sponsored breakfasts twice a month on Saturdays.

For information or directions, contact Bob Gottschall at the House of Bread at 226-1530.

THURSDAY, DEC. 5:

UD STUDENTS WILL FAST, REMAIN OUTSIDE UNTIL FOOD DRIVE GOAL IS REACHED

Student directors and DJs from the University of Dayton's Flyer Radio, 99.5 FM, will collect 995 cans of food for Catholic Social Services in an outdoor food drive and have pledged to fast and remain outside until all cans of food are collected. The drive will begin at noon Thursday, Dec. 5, on Humanities Plaza in front of the Jesse Philips Humanities Center, and continue at least until 5 p.m. and later, if need be.

Flyer Radio will broadcast live from noon until 5 p.m., and UD president Daniel J. Curran will join the event for an on-air interview from 2 to 2:15 p.m. Several members of Flyer Radio will be outside at all times, and all 100 DJs and directors will fast until their goal is reached.

"I really hope we'll reach our goal by 6 o'clock, or I'm going to go numb out there," said student Hunter Quinlivan, Flyer Radio program director and one of the event organizers. On average, Catholic Social Services feeds 30-70 families a day year-round, Quinlivan said.

For more information, contact Hunter Quinlivan at (937) 627-5247 (home) or at the radio station at (937) 229-3058.
